

1.2.20
5.1.
--48. In the system of claim 47, said wireless detector also detecting coded signs on specific structures and improvements, including specific buildings and addresses, identifying said building and addresses .--

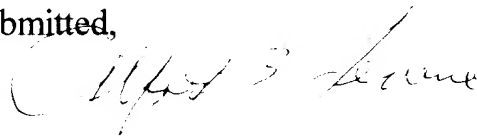

--49. In the system of claim 46, a memory for prestoring said geographic information for plural destinations said memory being energized by said sensing means to access the geographic information for a selected destination.—

--50. In the system of claim 46, said wireless detector additionally detecting coded road signs containing posted traffic regulations, and energizing said navigation system thereby to include said traffic regulations in said pictorial navigation display.--

REMARKS

This application has been extensively amended to more adequately protect the invention .All of original claims 7,8,9,10,11,12,13,14,15,16,17,18,19,23,26,27, and 28 have been withdrawn and replaced by five (5) additional independent claims (31, 35, 38, 42, and 46) together with a series of claims dependant thereon.

Respectfully Submitted,

Alfred B. Levine, Applicant
Phone and fax 301-365-0738
November 20.2001